USSR Expels Top Yugoslav Diplomat

Ousted As Spy, Russian News Agency Says

3 Representatives Of Soviet Ordered To Leave Yugoslavia

LONDON, Saturday, Nov. 19 (AP)—Yugoslavia's highest ranking diplomat in Moscow has been expelled from Russia for spying, Tass said today. At the same time the Soviet news agency disclosed that three Russian representatives have been ousted from Yugoslavia.

A Moscow dispatch by Tass, distributed here by the Soviet monitor, said Yugoslav Charge Lazo Latinovic was accused of spying and subversive activities in a Russian note handed to the Yugoslav Embassy in Moscow Wednesday. He was told he must leave the country.

The dispatch added that a Russian consul, military attaché and information bureau representative "recently" were ordered out of Yugoslavia for "anti-Yugoslav activities."

Yugoslavia Said "No"

Latinovic has been the country's ranking diplomat in Moscow since Yugoslav Ambassador Karl Mrazovic left Moscow in August. Last month the Soviet government demanded the official recall of Mrazovic on charges of "spying and subversive activities" against Russia. By that time Mrazovic was serving as president of the Yugoslav republic of Croatia and a member of the Yugoslav Communist Party's Central Committee.

Yugoslavia rejected the Russian demand for a formal recall of her ambassador. She branded the Russian note as a new "stimulus" in a Soviet campaign to shut out relations and to minimize Yugoslavia's position in a "progressive world."

The new diplomatic expulsions are the latest developments in the rift between Russia and Yugoslavia that started when the Cominform kicked out Yugoslav Premier Marshal Tito in June, 1948, for alleged "nationalistic deviation." Russia broke her treaty of friendship and mutual aid with Yugoslavia September 29.

Soviet Diplomats Ousted
Two Soviet diplomats who Tass said were "recently" accused of "engaging in anti-Yugoslav activities" were identified as Vladimirov, Russian consul in Zagreb, Yugoslavia, and Zemkovich, Soviet second military attaché in Belgrade. Their department was demanded in a note delivered to the Russian Embassy in the Yugoslav capital.

Tass also said a man named Kirisanov, a representative of the Soviet Information Bureau in Belgrade, had been called to the Yugoslav information headquarters, charged with "hostile activity" and told to get out. The dispatch did not say when this happened.

Vet Goes Berserk, Wounds Two Officers

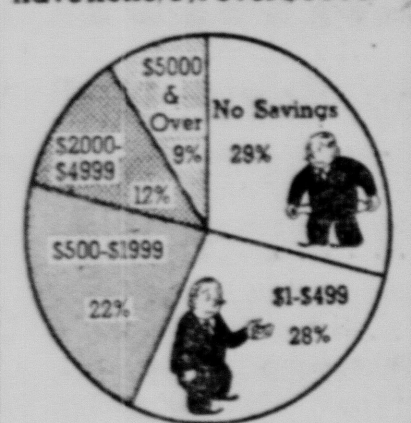

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 18 (AP)—A 28-year-old war veteran went berserk in the Veterans Administration office today, held the manager at pistol point for an hour and critically wounded two policemen.

Police Chief William Donahue identified the man as Charles Hartwell, Erie.

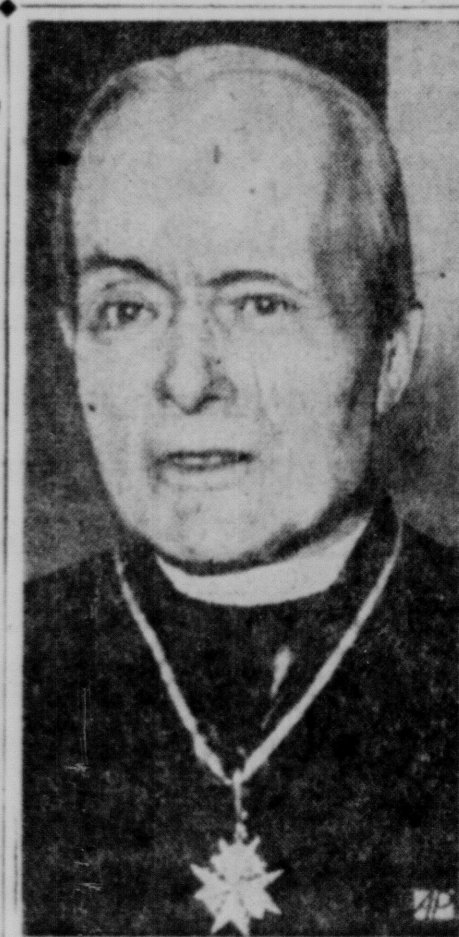

Hartwell, a railroad brakeman, served five months in the Army and was discharged from the service due to a mental condition. He later was a patient in Warren (Pa.) State Hospital.

BISHOP MANNING

Bishop Manning, 83, Foe Of Easy Divorce, Passes

Retired Churchman Dies In N. Y. Hospital

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—The Right Rev. William T. Manning, 83, former Protestant Episcopal bishop of New York for 25 years and a longtime foe of easy divorce, died in St. Luke's Hospital today.

He entered the hospital November 4 after returning from a vacation in Maine. The cause of death was announced as "a bladder and kidney involvement."

Members of his family and the hospital chaplain, the Rev. Otis R. Rice, were at his bedside when death came at 5:10 p. m. (EST).

Helped Build Cathedral
The British-born Bishop Manning played a major role in the building of the huge Cathedral of St. John the Divine here. He preached his farewell sermon there three years ago upon his retirement. It was a defense of "the sacramental religion of the Scriptures and the Holy Catholic Church."

A firm upholder of marriage as a sacrament, he criticized King Edward VIII for leaving the British throne to marry a divorcee.

He also expressed belief repeatedly in the eventual unification of all Christian churches, and denounced lotteries, paganism and the joint income tax return for married couples.

Requiem Arranged
Canon Thomas A. Sparks, of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, said the body would lie in state at the cathedral beginning at 6 p. m. Sunday until noon Tuesday, when a burial office and requiem will be offered at the cathedral.

Prior to the noon service, Canon Sparks said, there will be three additional requiems Tuesday morning, at 7:30, 8 and 9 o'clock. Canon Sparks said the burial eventually would be at the cathedral.

55 More Czechs Sent To Prison
PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 18 (AP)—Czechoslovakia sent 55 persons to prison today on charges of spying and indicated more arrests, trials and sentences would follow in this country's burgeoning purge.

All 55 persons—sentenced to terms ranging from one year to life—were accused of trying to overthrow the Communist regime and spying for the United States.

The signal of more trials to come was in a state security police broadcast, in which an unidentified commentator advised the police:

"The aim of the rotten western reactionary regimes is to retain their positions in the world and to install that kind of regime in the socialist countries. The only way they can achieve this is to have war, which is their last refuge."

"For that reason, they are sending spies and diversionist agents into our country. We must be more vigilant and watchful against spies and diversionists."

Elderly Couple Weds
WHITESBURG, Ky., Nov. 18 (AP)—A childhood romance that blossomed some 60 years ago blossomed into marriage for Henry P. Crase, 76, Stonega, Va., and his blushing bride, Mrs. Martha Beck, 78, of Whitesburg. They were married yesterday in a simple ceremony by Squire Jesse C. Day.

All Old-Style Superforts Grounded

Crash Of Search Plane Kills Five

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (INS)—The United States Air Force today grounded all old-style B-29 Superfort bombers in fear that mechanical and equipment failure were responsible for the current string of accidents involving the wartime atomic planes.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, ordered that all B-29s whose engines have not undergone "modernization" and those which have been subject to "maximum operating stresses" remain on the ground.

B-29 Crash Kills Five
TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 18 (AP)—A B-29 off to hunt for another B-29 missing in the Atlantic crashed into the mud of Tampa Bay today and killed five of the nine-man crew.

It was the sixth B-29 involved in five disasters in the past 15 days—crashes which have taken 35 lives and left 20 missing.

The one which crashed today was just taking off from MacDill Field to hunt the missing 20 who were about a plane which crash-landed Wednesday somewhere off Bermuda.

The big plane was five minutes off the ground and barely 1,000 feet up when one of the motors developed trouble. Smoke poured out, then flames.

The ship plunged into the muck of the bay 200 feet from shore, hitting on its nose and flipping over on one side.

Search Continues
HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 18 (AP)—A United States Air Force pilot today spotted what he said might be the wreckage of a B-29 supposed to have crash-landed Wednesday with 20 men aboard. No sign of life was seen.

First Lt. Richard Mullin, of the 32nd Bombardment Squadron, of the 301st Bombardment Group, said on his return tonight from a search mission he had sighted what might be debris 290 miles northeast of Bermuda this morning.

The area where Mullin spotted the objects was about 40 miles southwest of the place where flares were reported last night.

Late today another search plane pilot reported he had spotted what he believed to be a yellow life raft in the area.

Maritime Union Agrees To Truce

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—The AFL Masters, Mates and Pilots today agreed to a 30-day truce in their dispute with Atlantic and Gulf ship operators.

A strike of 2,000 AFL deck officers was scheduled to begin last Wednesday, but government mediators succeeded in obtaining a truce for a week.

Subject to approval by the union and shipowners, it was to be extended for a full month.

The union, after an all day meeting here, announced its negotiating committee had decided to call off any threatened walkout until midnight December 15.

Youth Confesses He Killed Seven-Year-Old Idaho Girl

Resolution Raps Assistance Given Greek Guerrillas

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—The United Nations Assembly approved overwhelmingly today an arms embargo on Albania and Bulgaria until those Soviet-dominated countries stop helping Greek guerrillas fight the Athens government.

The vote was 50 to 6. Yugoslavia joined its former partners in the Moscow bloc in opposing the resolution, which was supported by the United States. Two countries, India and Israel, abstained.

The Assembly has no power—other than moral force—to carry out the arms embargo.

Last year the Assembly condemned Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia for furnishing help to the Greek guerrillas. Since then the Yugoslavs closed their border to keep out Communists following the Cominform line, and the Tito regime escaped criticism in this year's resolution. However, the Assembly called on Yugoslavia to cooperate in attempts to reach a settlement in the Balkans.

By large majorities in a paragraph-by-paragraph vote the Assembly beat down a Soviet proposal to discontinue the United Nations Special Committee on the Balkans and to call for withdrawal of British and American troops from Greece. There was no final vote, as all paragraphs had been rejected.

The resolution approved by the majority included Romania for the first time by name. It decided that active assistance given to the Greek guerrillas by Albania in particular, by Bulgaria and by certain other states, including Romania, is contrary to the purposes and principles of the United Nations Charter and endangers peace in the Balkans.

Chinese Reds' Move Fails

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Red China demanded today that the United Nations unseat the Chinese Nationalist delegation but made no immediate claim to United Nations membership.

The Communists told the United Nations the Nationalists are in exile and their remnant forces in China soon will be eliminated.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie ruled against circulating the Communist demand to the 59 member nations. He put it into the file of messages from non-member governments and told reporters:

"They (the Communists) cannot get recognition by the secretariat or the secretary-general through the back door."

Lie explained this followed a United Nations practice started in 1946. He said if any delegation wanted to ask for this document and circulate it as its own communication it has that right. He said the delegation also would have to take responsibility for such action.

Judge Rules G-Girl Must Stand Trial

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan threw out all defense motions today and told Judith Coplon she must stand trial on charges of conspiring to spy for Russia.

But the judge postponed until next Tuesday, at least, the opening of the trial of the former government girl and her accused co-conspirator, Soviet Engineer Valentin Gubichev.

Ryan said he wanted to give Miss Coplon's lawyer, Archibald Palmer, a "reasonable opportunity" to approach the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in a new effort to have the arrest of the 28-year-old brunette declared illegal.

Palmer arranged to ask the appeals court Monday afternoon for a further postponement of the trial until his appeal has been heard.

Then Chambers testified: "Mr. Hiss told me he had the opportunity of using his position in the Nye committee for obtaining some State Department documents, I told Mr. Hiss I wanted him to bring the documents to me. I don't recall the exact nature of the documents."

Ober Hearings Set
ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 18 (AP)—The Court of Appeals today scheduled hearings on Maryland's anti-subversive law for December 6.

The state will ask Maryland's highest court to reverse a Baltimore Circuit Court decision and declare the law constitutional.

Mr. And Mrs. "Veep" Cut Cake

Vice President and Mrs. Alben W. Barkley hold the knife to cut their wedding cake at a reception yesterday, as the bride gestures with her hand on which she wears her wedding ring. On the sash of her blouse she wears fan-shaped diamond clips. The reception was at the home of Mrs. T. M. Sayman, St. Louis.

Wadleigh Is Accused By Hiss' Lawyer

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Alger Hiss' attorney named former State Department Aide Julian Wadleigh today as the source of any State Department secrets leaked to a prewar Soviet spy ring.

Defense Attorney Claude B. Cross opened Hiss' second federal perjury trial with the charge that Whitaker Chambers got his famed microfilm pumpkin papers from Wadleigh—not from Hiss.

"The microfilm came from Julian Wadleigh," Cross told a jury of eight women and four men as he laid the cornerstone of his case. Hiss' first trial last spring ended with a hung jury.

Wadleigh admitted at the first Hiss trial that he was a Communist sympathizer for a time before he left the State Department. He said he slipped the Russian spy ring State Department documents from the same building where Hiss worked in those years before the war.

But he insisted he never took any documents from Hiss' office. He said Chambers might have gotten the pumpkin papers from him but he didn't think so.

Chambers, chief witness against the slim, 45-year-old Hiss, repeatedly has testified that he was a spy ring courier and that Hiss fed him secrets in wholesale fashion. Just as repeatedly Hiss has denied this. The first jury split eight for conviction, four for acquittal of Hiss on perjury charges.

After four minor witnesses repeated statements Hiss made before the grand jury, the government called Chambers to the stand late in the day.

Chambers testified: "Mr. Hiss told me he had the opportunity of using his position in the Nye committee for obtaining some State Department documents, I told Mr. Hiss I wanted him to bring the documents to me. I don't recall the exact nature of the documents."

Barkley And His Bride Head For "Shangri-La" Honeymoon

Charming St. Louis Widow Becomes Second Lady Of Land; "Veep" Gives Victory Sign

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18 (AP)—Vice President Alben W. Barkley and his pretty bride were honeymoon bound tonight—but they wouldn't say where.

It was somewhere south, toward a "Shangri-La" not to be found on a map, that the "Veep" and the former Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley took turns at the wheel of the car he gave her as a wedding present.

"We're not going north," he told reporters at a luncheon about three hours after the wedding, just before they left.

They had said they wanted to have a simple ceremony. The ceremony itself was simple, the usual ritual of the Methodist Church, but outside the chapel waited some 5,000 well-wishers who made it difficult for them to go their way.

Bride Smiles Through Tears
They were pronounced husband and wife at 12:11 p. m. (EST).

Jane Hadley Barkley, 38, smiled through tears of happiness when she was led from the altar by the 71-year-old Vice President.

She nodded to her mother, Mrs. Estle Rucker, and her two daughters, Anne, 17, and Jane, 14, who were standing at a front pew.

When the newlyweds reached the chapel vestibule, the Vice President did something he failed to do immediately after the wedding ceremony. He kissed the bride.

"Wasn't he gorgeous?" Mrs. Barkley exclaimed later.

With the bride at the wheel, the newlyweds left in an automobile at 3:30 p. m. (EST) for an unnamed honeymoon destination. They had a motorcycle police escort.

State To Ask Death For Girl's Sex Slayer

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18 (AP)—The state moved swiftly today to send Fred Stroble—confessed sex slayer who says "I don't deserve to live"—to California's gas chamber.

"We will ask for the death penalty," said Deputy District Attorney Adolph Alexander as Stroble was arraigned on a charge of murdering six-year-old Linda Joyce Gulcoff.

The strangled, stabbed body of little Linda was found early Tuesday beside an incinerator in the backyard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Hausman, son-in-law and daughter of Stroble and parents of Rochelle Hausman, Linda's six-year-old playmate.

Captain Again Blasts Military High Command

Service Row Revived—As Naval Aviation Is Ordered Slashed 25%

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (INS)—Capt. John G. Crommelin today accused the Army general staff of plotting to seize control of the Defense Department and his demand for a court-martial to expose it received prompt support from Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis.

Crommelin demanded that Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations, either withdraw the blistering reprimand with which the Captain was punished for his part in the unification row or order him court-martialed so he can continue his fight.

The veteran naval aviator said a court-martial would give him opportunity to expose the Army General Staff's "persistent and insatiable lust for power."

Naval Aviation Slashed
Crommelin's blast came as naval aviation was ordered cut 25 percent while Defense Secretary Johnson declared he is trying to save two billion dollars in security costs without sacrificing ability to "face any military crisis."

The aviation cutbacks were ordered by Sherman, who took over as CNO when Adm. Louis E. Denfeld was fired for supporting Crommelin's charge that Johnson's policies are "nibbling the Navy to death."

Sherman indicated that Crommelin's demand for a court-martial will be rejected.

Crommelin asserted that the Army General Staff is operating under a plan identical with that drawn up by Gen. Heinz Guderian, Hitler's last chief of staff.

Writes To Sherman
He declared that defense chiefs fear "a public discussion before a duly constituted court of law which might involve further exposing the dangers of the expanding Prussian general staff concept."

Crommelin charged in a letter to Sherman:

"By clever maneuvering, these general staff zealous in the Army, with their powerful propaganda machine, have played up the controversy between the Navy and the Air Force in an effort to keep the spotlight of public opinion from being focused upon them while they relentlessly carry out their carefully prepared plan to take control of the civilian functions of the Department of Defense."

The Captain declared that the Defense Department is "under the complete and full control of a small group of men who come by their tremendous power under the general staff concept."

State Dept. Efforts To Free Ward Fail
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—The State Department reported today that all its efforts to make "effective contact" with Chinese Communist authorities on the Angus Ward case have thus far failed.

Speculation persisted here that one of the next moves might be an appeal to Russians for aid in obtaining the release of the jailed consul general at Mukden, China. But the State Department maintained strict silence on its plans.

The latest report from Vice Consul William N. Stokes at Mukden showed that Ward and the four staff members arrested with him October 24 were still imprisoned and possibly themselves have no hope of early release. They have asked for reading material.

Girl, 19, Kills Boy Friend In Dynamite-Stocked Car

BERRYVILLE, Va., Nov. 18 (AP)—Terrified by the threat of being raped or blown to bits by dynamite, she said, a pretty Washington art student shot and killed a boy friend today in an automobile near a lonely Northern Virginia road.

Nineteen-year-old Theresa Koenig ran barefooted in the freezing cold before dawn to a farmhouse. She called the sheriff's office to gasp out:

"I've just killed a man."

The authorities came out and were led to the body of Charles Kenneth Elyett, 22, slumped in his car in Huyett woods. Two pistols and two sticks of dynamite, wired to be set off, were also in the car.

Miss Koenig, a Navy Department draftsman by day and an art student in the evening, was charged with manslaughter and released on bond of $1,000. She will be arraigned here on November 28.

She was questioned at length about the night that began when Elyett, a man her father forbade her to see again, picked her up at her Arlington home near the nation's capital. Then she was released to her father with a minimum charge—manslaughter—against her. She drove down with Elyett from Arlington last night with another man, William W. Bryant. Bryant was dropped off here and the couple visited Elyett's sister, Mrs. Virginia Owens, near Berryville.

Then, Miss Koenig said, they left for aimless hours of driving about that finally ended in Huyett woods, near the West Virginia line. This, she related to Commonwealth's Attorney Edward Williams and sheriff's officers, is what followed:

Elyett sought to force his attentions on her and she insisted that their relations go no farther than friendship. He showed her the dynamite in the car and threatened to "blow us both up." He became amorous and tried to rape her. Then as they struggled she grabbed a 38 he was wearing in a holster and shot him in the abdomen. He had taken her shoes off, but she fled without stopping to get them.

County Gives $1,000 To Welfare Work

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners unanimously voted a $1,000 donation to child welfare work of Mountain District, American Legion, yesterday morning.

The donation will come from the county's contingent fund.

A delegation of Legion and Auxiliary members of welfare committees of various posts appeared to outline the work being done and to ask for aid.

Leslie J. Clark, department judge advocate, cited distressing situations along George's Creek which were brought to light by a recent Legion survey. Frank T. Powers of the Frostburg Legion said the long coal shutdown and short work week have impoverished families of miners in the area, and a representative of James P. Love Post, Lonaconing, said several children have fainted in school this week because of lack of food.

Howard M. Spiker, commander of Port Cumberland Post No. 13, said the campaign is being conducted for all children in Mountain District, and Mrs. Harry Vogel of the Auxiliary to the post, said her organization spent over $200 last year to aid needy children. The situation this year, she added, is much worse.

At yesterday's meeting, the County Commissioners also authorized construction of 300 to 400 feet of hard-surfaced road from the main road at Ellerslie to the fire company's hall.

Dewey Zimmerman, Floyd Logsdon and C. O. Albright appeared for the fire company, and it was decided that Albright will meet soon with County Engineer John J. Smith to discuss placement of drainage pipes.

The fire company will obtain all necessary rights of way. Albright said the fire company serves 1,400 residents of the area.

Names of the various contributors for the organ fund are inscribed on a bronze plaque on the organ. Rev. Louis P. Chastain, pastor, is in charge of the service and will be assisted by Rev. Patterson in the dedication.

A special Thanksgiving offering will be taken.

Railroad Fare Boost Lesson In Economics

There is a good lesson in economics in what is happening to the nation's railroads. It is not a very encouraging picture.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has just authorized the eastern roads to raise their passenger rates 12½ per cent. That will bring rates to a new high. It will cost more to travel in a coach than it did to travel in a Pullman before the war. On a trip from Cumberland to Washington, for example, the one-way fare will increase almost 65 cents to $5.74, while a coach-fare coach fare from Cumberland to New York will increase $1.59 to $14.36.

Why the increase? Last year the railroads did not have too good passenger business. They lost $252,177,000 in passenger operations, the largest in history. In addition, their costs of operation skyrocketed partly due to higher wages they have been required to pay. Some economies in operation have been effected, mainly by cutting service. In addition, many roads are converting to Diesel operation, to lower costs. But the railroads were still in a hole. A fare increase was the only way out.

Whether it will be wise in the long run is another question. Higher fares will bring in more revenue, but they will also discourage rail travel. Prospective passengers will seek other and cheaper means of transportation or will not travel at all. Even at best the increase in fares will not meet expected losses.

There is a perfect example of what the nation's present economic philosophy is bound to bring about. Industry cannot meet higher costs without getting more revenue, despite what parlor economists may think. But there is, unfortunately, a limit to the process. It can go only so far before it is a bust. The country needs to undergo a major change in its thinking if that bust is to be avoided.

An Opportunity To Aid Underprivileged Children

This is National Kids' Day, the first observance of its kind by the National Kids' Day Foundation, Inc. Sponsored jointly by the more than 3,000 Kiwanis Clubs of Kiwanis International and the Foundation, the purpose is to focus attention of the vital problems of underprivileged youths, to point the way toward stamping out the virus of juvenile delinquency, and to appeal to the American people in every community in the country to contribute something toward the set goals.

Cumberland is being given an opportunity to play its part. In cooperation with the Cumberland Kiwanis Club, which is spearheading the observance here, a theatre and a food market are lending their efforts toward raising funds to carry on an to expand work in connection with the Kiwanis Sunshine Camp by donating a portion of their day's business receipts. The Central Y. M. C. A. is throwing open its gym, swimming pool and offering the use of other facilities, without charge, for the entertainment of children throughout most of the day. And Edmund F. Hoey, recreational director, has lined up special programs at the various playgrounds throughout the city. Members of the Kiwanis Club and their wives are giving their time stations in the downtown area from which will be sold throughout the day to assist in the conduct of ten apples as a fund-raising undertaking. In addition, an apple supply station will be located in front of St. Paul's Lutheran Church where apples will be available in any quantity desired, the purchaser setting his own price.

Only one per cent of money raised today goes to the national foundation, the remaining 99 per cent to be used to expand the work and efforts in behalf of underprivileged children.

The day day organized to fill a vital need for centering public interest in youth problems. It is a day in which to consider juvenile problems and their eventual solution. It is a day that should receive the wholehearted support of the community because, to quote the slogan of the National Kids' Day Foundation, Inc., "Child by child we build our nation."

Senator Bridges Calls For Welfare Fund Audit

Senator Styles Bridges has told a federal court in Washington that he would very much like to be rid of the albatross around his neck. This is the $35,000 a year job he assumed as "neutral" trustee for the United Mine Workers Welfare and Retirement Fund.

It has been his job to break the votes between the two other trustees, John L. Lewis, UMW president, and Ezra Van Horn, representing the coal operators, whose royalty payments were keeping the fund's coffers brimming to the tune of some $100,000,000.

All Senator Bridges' votes have fallen in one direction. With monotonous regularity John L. and the Senator have brushed off objections made by Mr. Van Horn on the manner in which the fund was being dispensed. Not long ago Mr. Van Horn resigned.

Mr. Van Horn said the fund had been set up on an "unsound actuarial basis." Soon after that all payments out of the fund were suspended because the bottom had been reached, proving that Mr. Van Horn knew what he was talking about.

Before Senator Bridges resigns he wants a complete accounting of the fund, something John L. may want to skip. The public, which pays the extra price per ton which in turn pays the royalty, has a right to know what has been going on. So have the miners. If the Senators' resignation will force an audit of the welfare fund, it will be doubly worth while.

Another Voice Is Heard For Economy

Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer has added his voice to those calling for a cut in spending and more effort toward economy in Government. He told a recent press conference that adoption of the Hoover Commission report in full was one way to achieve that purpose.

It would be interesting to know whether Mr. Sawyer spoke with the approval of President Truman. The Secretary of Commerce has often been used in the past as a soothing ointment to soothe the sores of businessmen chafing under Administration beatings. His latest remark may belong in the same category. But whether that be the case or not, the fact is that he is right. Coming on top of the President's statement on the anticipated $5,500,000,000 deficit for this fiscal year, Mr. Sawyer's warning should be heeded, if the nation is to be removed from the brink of economic disaster.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Protection From Influenza A And B

INFLUENZA is highly contagious and when the malady invades a neighborhood it has a tendency to spread like wildfire. The incubation period is short (two to four days) and little time elapses between exposure and the appearance of symptoms. The organisms are transmitted from one person to another via the air.

Several viruses are capable of causing the flu. They produce the same symptoms and can be distinguished from each other only in the laboratory. Some may be stronger one season and weaker the next and this change in virulence explains partly why certain epidemics like the one in 1917-18 were so severe. Human resistance may play a role also as it is conceivable that the disease will have a greater effect on individuals who are below par.

Because of the varied types of causative viruses, difficulty has been encountered in preparing a vaccine that will prevent all forms of influenza. The products now available protect against viruses A and B and are excellent should these particular germs go on the rampage.

Furthermore, the evaluation of flu vaccines has been hampered by other factors. Influenza is not the same as the common cold and the vaccine is of no value in this ailment. For example, the preparation may be given to one group with an equal number set aside as controls. At the end of the year a survey is made of the number of respiratory infections encountered by each subject. All too often the results show that the vaccinated had just as many colds or lost just as many days from sickness as the unvaccinated. This is understandable because influenza due to virus A and B may not have existed during that particular season hence protection from these organisms was unnecessary. In other words, the vaccine is for a specific disease (due to influenza virus A or B), and no other.

The disorder usually comes on suddenly with fever, headache, generalized pain, and marked prostration. Sore throat and an irritating cough may be present and in this respect, the cold resembles the common cold except that prostration is more marked, hanging on long after other symptoms disappear. This is the most characteristic feature of the flu. Involvement of the lungs leads to bronchitis or pneumonia. This is considered a more severe form and many victims suffer from a bothersome cough and some bring up bloody sputum. In the 1917-18 epidemic, profuse hemorrhage from the lungs and bronchial tubes was common. Now and then influenza is confined to the intestinal tract producing nausea, vomiting, abdominal pain, and diarrhea. Occasionally the liver bears the brunt of the attack and the patient becomes jaundiced.

Treatment is similar to that of a common cold. Strict isolation will prevent spread to others. This is of the utmost importance especially if there are older persons in the household. Penicillin and aureomycin are worthy of trial and aspirin or Dover's powders help to lower fever and relieve aching. It is a good policy to remain in bed during the attack and for several days after temperature returns to normal; otherwise relapse may occur. A nutritious diet, vitamins, and ample sleep assist in overcoming the prostration that follows. A vacation may be needed to shorten convalescence.

F. G. H. writes: Is it dangerous to use some one else's reading glasses?

REPLY
Not dangerous in the strict sense of the word but the practice may lead to eyestrain and headache, if the lenses do not improve vision.

Gain And Lose
Mrs. M. H. writes: Is it unusual to lose weight in the arms and neck and gain in the remainder of the body?

REPLY
Yes, and vice versa also is true. Obesity follows different patterns. Some get fat all over and others, "where they do not want it."

Aureomycin In Shingles
J. L. writes: Is there anything new in the treatment of shingles?

REPLY
Yes, Aureomycin was tried on one patient who did not respond to the usual remedies. By the end of a week symptoms had almost vanished.

Kidney Involvement
K. O. writes: Can chronic nephritis in a 19 year old boy be cured?

REPLY
Cures have been reported but, in the majority of cases, the condition is likely to persist in a mildly incapacitating form. Perhaps the new compound E or ACTH will prove helpful in this disorder.

Shaking Palsy
J. C. writes: What's the treatment for Parkinson's disease?

In general, treatment aims at relaxing the affected muscles so that rigidity and tremor will be relieved. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this disorder.

Marines' General Worton Faces Toughest Job Of Life As Los Angeles' Police Chief; Conflicting Authorities Pose Problems

Says DREW PEARSON

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, today goes to Maj. Gen. William A. Worton, the ex-Marine who is now cleaning up Los Angeles.)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—When Negro singer Paul Robeson came out to Los Angeles shortly after the Peekskill riots, it was generally expected that all hell would break loose.

Robeson was reported to have picked this polygot, mushroomed metropolis of the West Coast because of its crackpot Communist fringe and the hope that another riot would add more fuel to the distorted flames of the Moscow radio. But just the opposite happened. Robeson came and left Los Angeles without a ripple. No baseball bats were wielded. No rocks thrown. No ovation awaited him. And, most important of all, no propaganda fed the Moscow radio.

The man responsible for this efficiency is a stocky, quiet-spoken officer who trained the 3rd Marines for the landing at Okinawa and who is now tackling the toughest job of his life. It is no exaggeration to say that Maj. Gen. William Arthur Worton would rather lead troops into battle than face the political moorings and pitfalls that await the Chief of Police of Los Angeles.

His job is probably typical of that faced by the modern, overgrown, big American city which is now trying to prevent the new wave of sex crimes, robberies and degeneracy that has engulfed every big city in the wake of war.

Local Papers "Scooped"
When General Worton took office late last month, just about everything under the sun happened at once. Mickey Cohen, much-published sultan of the underworld, had just been shot at Worton's predecessor as chief of police had just been indicted—though later acquitted. And a raft of dictaphone recordings taken from a microphone hidden in Mickey Cohen's home made headlines in the Los Angeles papers.

Indicative of the easy-going lethargy of the Los Angeles police force was, first, the fact that these dictaphone recordings had been lying in a police lieutenant's garage for months. And, second, the fact that the recordings were sold to various underworld leaders before they were shown to the new chief of police.

In fact, Los Angeles generally was so uninterested in its own police graft that Dick Hyer of the San Francisco Chronicle stole the story right from under the noses of the Los Angeles newspapers. And for some days, Los Angeles papers were frantically rewriting the San Francisco Chronicle stories in order to report what was going on in their own town.

"Police Union" Developed
What General Worton found in the Los Angeles police force may also be typical of what is happening in other American cities. When he tried to fire the head of his detective force, he found that he couldn't. The detective chief was protected by civil service. And if charges were preferred against him, those charges were heard by a board of fellow police officers whose watchword was self-protection.

In such extremes, Los Angeles had gone to such extremes with civil service that a "Police Union" as tightly controlled as it had been organized by John L. Lewis, had developed.

Administration Difficulties
Chief Worton's job has been difficult not only because Los Angeles filled up during the war with a motley migration of midwest war workers, pension-hunting oldsters and migrant Mexicans, but also because large sections of the city are not under his control. What Worton found was that Hollywood, Beverly Hills, Pasadena, and half a dozen of the other cities that nudge Los Angeles and really make up its metropolitan area, operate their own police forces. On top of this, Los Angeles county has 3,000 police of its own, and it is in the county rather than the city that Southern California gambling really flourishes.

King-pin of Los Angeles county is colorful Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, who seems to get no more excited about an occasional gang shooting than about the gambling that attracts crowds along Sunset Strip. After the hoodlums scattered the front of Sherry's with shotgun slugs in an effort to bump off Mickey Cohen, Sheriff Biscailuz decided to re-enact the crime—with all witnesses present. So, accompanied by newsmen and photographers, the sheriff arrived with his retinue. But no witnesses.

After a lot of waiting, hemming and hawing, the sheriff remarked: "Well, they must have been tired, or maybe they went to the fights tonight." Whereupon he had his picture taken, pointing at the bullet holes, and went home.

Police Improvement Needed
The Los Angeles press seems to love Sheriff Biscailuz and seldom points to the fact that it's in his balliwick that things are wide open, free and easy. Of course, there may be a reason for this love. Not long ago the sheriff threw a party at the Eastside Brewery, with a young army of newsmen present. There was also plenty of bourbon and filet mignon. Just how the sheriff could afford such a party remains a mystery, but his objective was no mystery.

"We've all been in this thing together for a long time," he said, in a little speech of welcome. "So remember your old friend Gene Biscailuz if things start popping. And remember we're always been friends."

A few days later 200 deputy sheriff badges, as big as Pepsi-Cola badges, were handed out to the press.

The ex-Marine Corps general leads a lonely life, but it's beginning to pay dividends. Every night after supper he makes a surprise inspection of a police station. Every day he is getting better morale, more loyalty, and more work from his men. Many of the Los Angeles police force are now ex-veterans and, though green, take their work seriously.

Worton's greatest problem is the fact that under civil service rules he can hold office only four months. This rule was adopted to keep politics out of the police force. But now the politicians and the mobsters are falling back on it to keep off their necks for more than a temporary period the greatest cleanup servant Los Angeles has ever seen.

"Fair Deal" Promises Work In Reverse For Majority
By MARK SULLIVAN
THE cost of traveling on a railroad, passenger fares, was increased this week by a government agency, the Interstate Commerce Commission. The increase applies to the densely populated northeastern section of the country. In specific examples, the cost of a trip from New York to Washington is increased from $7.75 to $8.72. By this increase, with preceding ones, passenger fares will now be 44 per cent above what they were on Jan. 1, 1946, which was nearly a year after the end of the war.

Standing alone, the increase in passenger fares is simple and clear to the average citizen: it is going to cost him to travel. But what the citizen greatly needs is to see this as one detail in the whole economic course of the country. About this, a competent authority said last month, "I am filled with deep concern"—the authority was Dr. Edwin G. Nourse who, at the time he spoke, was resigning as chairman of an official government body, the Board of Economic Advisers.

Cost Mainly Two Things
The reason given for increasing passenger fares is increased cost of operating the railroads. The increased cost is mainly two things—raising in the wages of railroad workers, and increases in the cost of materials, such as steel for cars and rails. Actually these two are largely one, for increase in cost of many materials, such as steel, is in turn largely caused by increases of wages in the steel industry.

A start toward understanding is to grasp what few recognize, the extent to which these two primary economic dynamisms, wages and prices, are determined by government. In the recent case, the price of rail-

Rate-Making Method For Rails Favored By Systems

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—When Interstate Commerce Commissioner Aldridge told the House Judiciary subcommittee that Congress may want to consider subsidies to the railroads if losses in passenger revenue were not stopped, he was suggesting a solution that most of the railroad executives themselves think is unnecessary.

What the railroad men want is a system of rate-making that will permit them to compete with other forms of transportation. Today if they make a rate between two cities in order to meet a competitive rate by trucks, for example, they must then apply that lower rate to similar hauls or situations in other parts of their transportation system and this could mean a greater loss in revenue than would be offset by the gain in a specific locality.

The truth of the matter is that when the Interstate Commerce Act was passed back in 1888 the railroads in every sense had a monopoly of transportation facilities. Today they find themselves up against cargo-carrying by airlines, and by heavy duty trucks which have reached such size that they look like railroad freight cars on rubber-tired wheels.

The railroads are not asking that the trucks or airlines be required to charge higher rates. On the contrary, the railroad executives say they want a chance to meet freight competition in the same way that any businessman lowers his price to meet competition.

Cannot Fix Prices

But the railroads cannot fix their prices as do owners of other businesses in the private-enterprise system. They must wait many months for the Interstate Commerce Commission and sometimes for state commissions to act. They must bear the entire cost of the maintenance of their rights-of-way, while their competitors receive heavy subsidies or relief from corresponding burdens of taxation.

Thus a study of the year 1947—the latest year in which figures of this kind are available—shows that for all Class I railroads the total operating revenue was about 8.6 billion of dollars but that the cost of owning, maintaining, and operating rights-of-way and paying state and local taxes amounted to

The interstate common-carrier and contract trucks, on the other hand, are estimated to have received a revenue of 1.8 billions of dollars in 1947 and to have paid out only 4.7 cents or the dollar, or $84,417,000 for their state and local taxes including gasoline, motor vehicle, property and other taxes.

Looking at it from the expense side, the railroads paid out 21.02 cents of each dollar of their total costs for owning and maintaining rights-of-way and for state and local taxes, while the trucks paid out 4.89 cents of each dollar of their total expenses for taxes of all kinds and paid nothing directly for road maintenance.

The meaning of this is that if the Class I railroads could have spent only 4.7 cents out of each revenue dollar for their rights-of-way and maintenance of track and yards as well as state and local taxes, the railroads would have cut their expenses in 1947 by $1,369,051,000 or by 16.2 per cent.

This might have permitted the railroads to reduce their freight rates to the shippers.

May Have Compromised
But the highways on which trucks travel are shared by the passenger traveling public as well as the freight carriers, whereas the long lines of steel track are used only by the railroads. The country nevertheless needs the railroads as the main system of transportation for heavy materials and products in wartime as well as peacetime. With the rate structure for passengers now being pressed to the limit, as Commissioner Aldridge points out, the railroads may have to compromise with their convictions on the subsidy question and consider whether the federal government, as a measure of national defense, shall not contribute to the cost of maintaining the steel highways. There is an easier way, however. It is to let the railroads have freedom of action in making local freight rates so that they can meet competition.

This is the American way and it can beat the subsidy idea. But if government is to regulate rates on a rigidly uniform pattern it may find itself forced to pay a subsidy to maintain the roadbeds of the nation's railroads.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Cover-Up

THE line is taken by many that although it was altogether correct to fool the American people during the 1930's, the time has come not to fool them any longer. Roger Baldwin, the head of the American Civil Liberties Union, wrote:

"I have no patience with liberals who have not yet learned that all Communists and their agencies are first, last and always the agents of Soviet politics."

There was a reasonable basis for cooperation with the Communists in the 1930's when they seemed to be effective supporters of democracy against fascism. There is none now when the evidence is so clear that whatever ideals they express, they are the servants of a police-state philosophy opposed to every principle of what we regard as liberty.

Actually, what is true about the Communist party in 1949 was true in 1919, when the Third International was organized. It was true every year during the 1930's. It was true when the Harold Ware Cell was organized in Washington in 1934. It was true when the Dies committee gathered its wealth of data and supplied the Department of Justice with what is now admitted to be the truth.

It was true during the war when we supplied Soviet Russia with $11,000,000,000 to use for our destruction as well as Hitler's. It is a late day to suggest even that "they seemed to be effective supporters of democracy against fascism." They never seemed to be anything of the sort.

The plirport of Roger Baldwin's another group cost, to the people as a whole it is cost.

One very large group of the people consists of those who are trying to achieve future economic security for themselves or their dependents. They include life insurance policyholders, beneficiaries of social security, owners of government bonds, beneficiaries of government or private pension systems. These pay money currently for a security they expect to have some years ahead. Their experience so far has been sad. The receive the amount of money they are promised but they do not receive the amount of security they expected. A person who ten years or so ago paid $1 out of his wages into a social security system, paid in effect a bushel of wheat, for wheat was then about $1 a bushel. If he gets back his social security money now, each dollar in it is only about half a bushel of wheat, for wheat is now about $2 a bushel. Roughly the same reduction in purchasing power of the dollar, in actual security, is experienced as to practically everything people buy.

Future security is one of the things the Fair Deal promises, part of the "welfare state." But fiscal and economic policies which stress and promote increase of income, but work out to reduce the purchasing power of the security dollar, and thereby work hardship to immense numbers of savers, can hardly be called either "welfare" or "fair."

article in "This Week" is that while the Communists are reprehensible, nothing should be done to imperil their freedom of speech, lest that become a precedent harmful to all of us. I suppose the philosophy behind that idea is that words are not weapons; that speech is just hot air, letting off steam, and the more, the better.

But words are weapons, particularly when they work their way into text-books used in schools and colleges. I have recently been reading "World Geography," by John Hodgdon Bradley, a distinguished geologist, and published by Ginn and Company. On page 368, he makes this point:

"The Russian attitude toward racial differences has been more scientific and humane. It is based on the belief that people of any race can be happy individuals and cooperative citizens if they have a decent standard of living and an education. The government of the Soviet Union, working on this belief, has achieved almost miraculous results among people whose level of culture was for the most part extremely low."

There is no evidence that Soviet Russia has accomplished a solution of racial differences. Soviet Russia has advertised its superiority in this respect. There is plenty of conflicting data, particularly of the imprisonment and exile of middle-class intellectuals, leaving the components of the Russian empire without native leadership. Certainly no Kirghiz, Turkomans, Ostiaks, Yakuts, or Jews are in the politburo today.

In this same book, I find the following:

"...in extending its influence into Chinese territory the Soviet Union has respected the sovereignty of China and has kept the friendship of the Chinese people who live in the affected regions..."

This statement is demonstrably untrue. In 1924, Soviet Russia made arrangements to support a revolutionary movement in China, violating a treaty with the Chinese government. Michael Bordin and General Blucher-Galens were attached to the Revolutionary army, of which Chiang Kai-Shek was a part, first as head of the Red Army School known as the Whampoa Military Academy and then as commander-in-chief. Chiang broke with his Russian associates when they planned to take control of his country during the Christmas week of 1926-27. Their plan of total conquest and possession of China has now been accomplished by Mao Tse-tung, Chu Teh, and Li Lih-san, all of whom were in the 1925-27 effort and who have since remained as servants of Soviet Russia.

Bradley's book is copyrighted in 1945. The data of Russia's efforts to conquer China was fully available in 1945, as it was in 1925.

My point is that words can establish themselves so firmly that they come to be believed.

Appeals Court Rules School Bill Never Passed Assembly

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 18 (AP)—Maryland's $50,000,000 school bond bill never passed the State Legislature, the Court of Appeals ruled in effect today.

As a result, plans for financing school construction in many parts of the state were apparently snarled.

Issuance of the first $7,890,000 in bonds, already authorized by the State Board of Public Works, was blocked. Borrowing counties will have to wait for their money.

A new version could be passed by the General Assembly, either at a special session or at its regular session next February.

Gov. Lane was reported conferring with aides on this question late today.

Louis J. O'Connell, assistant to the Governor, said it had not been decided whether a special session would be necessary.

Fiscal, legal and school officials will confer to see whether a method can be worked out to tide the school over until the regular session, O'Connell said.

The bond bill will be re-introduced in any event, he added.

Through an error by a clerk, the Senate Journal failed to record passage of the bond bill in the Senate last March.

In what Attorney General Hall Hammond described as a "friendly suit," the state sought a court ruling that the bill had actually passed.

Maryland's highest court rejected this view in a brief statement after a hearing on the case this morning.

He stressed the subject needs "thorough study, there are many considerations which will enter into what should be the final decision."

This afternoon, Mayor Herman L. Mills of Hagerstown urged his fellow mayors to use their collective strength to get increased home rule.

"Our collective voices must be raised in protection of the municipal rights of the residents of our respective cities," the Republican Mayor told the league's second annual convention.

"We have painfully learned that only through such collective voice can enough speaking volume be raised to make an impression and to secure relief. We have the strength now and I am sure we will add to it. Let us determine to use our group strength to secure fair treatment for Maryland cities."

By "painfully learned," Mayor Mills evidently referred to the league's unsuccessful effort to have the last Legislature pass a home rule enabling act. Mayor G. Lamar Kelly, Jr., of Rockville told what happened.

"Our bill last time went to the House Committee on Constitutional Amendments and that's where it sat. The committee didn't seem to know why it shouldn't come out—they just tossed it around."

The league's committee on legislation was instructed to prepare another such bill for the next General Assembly. This time, Mayor Kelly said, it "should get on the floor. What happens from there is anybody's guess."

"Let us apply pressure, if pressure is required," Mayor Mills recommended. "To secure proper consideration of our problems."

As an example of the dependence of Maryland municipalities on the Legislature, Mayor Mills said:

"Frederick had to get special permission to reduce the annual license fee of female dogs from $5 to $2."

Mill Run Road Residents Ask Clarification

Discussion pro and con concerning the building of the Mill Run Road brought a delegation of citizens living on the thoroughfare to inquire of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday what is the status of the building program.

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., spokesman for the delegation, informed the board that the residents of the Mill Run Road were anxious to find out the official attitude of the board.

Commissioners William H. Lemmert and James Holmes informed the group that the board has put the road in its 1949-1950 program and that bids on the project will be asked by the State Roads Commission within a month or so.

They added that the road, slightly more than a mile, will be completed before the end of next summer.

Wilkinson Opposed

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson told the group that he was opposed to including the Mill Run Road in the program due to the cost. He said there are other roads, both in the George's Creek section and east of Cumberland, which are more important.

Holmes and Lemmert said the Mill Run Road had been on the proposed program for several years and is a needed project.

Following, there ensued a rehash of arguments between Lemmert and Wilkinson at former sessions as to the relative merits of county-built and federal aid roads.

Wilkinson favors a policy whereby the county builds its own roads. Lemmert contends that the federal aid system is less expensive for the county.

Holmes stated that, with the exception of the Frostburg-Middleton Road, no roads have been built in the George's Creek section since the days of WPA. He said at the same time there have been eight or ten miles constructed east of Cumberland.

Road Report Given

Wilkinson countered that the eastern section has valuable farm areas and property assessments in the millions contrasting with $25,600 for the western section. He added that the Mill Run Road goes "into nowhere" after reaching the Garrett County Line.

In his mid-monthly report, County Engineer John J. Smith said that a total of $10,409.92 was spent for road work from November 1 to 15.

Roadwork cost $8,196.23, bridges $132.90, roadside mowing $90, county shop $370.88 and removal of C. and O. canal bridge at Mexico Farms $1,619.91.

Road crews will work on the Seldom Seen Road, Mexico Farms Road, Dan's Rock Road, C. and O. canal bridge and Vale Summit Road during the coming week, Smith reported.

Romney Tops LaSalle, 27-0 For 9th Straight Victory

Sirk Brothers, Long, McCleary Score; Leo Ejected By Official

Romney High School's Pioneers extended their winning streak to nine games yesterday by defeating LaSalle High's Explorers at Romney by the score of 27 to 0.

Coach Dick McElwee's eleven scored two touchdowns in the first period and added six-pointers in the third and final quarters to keep its record unblemished. Romney plays its final game of the season with Keyser High at Keyser on Thanksgiving Day.

The defeat was LaSalle's sixth against two wins and one tie game. The Explorers conclude their campaign by playing Beall in Frostburg on Turkey Day.

Four Players Score
Romney's first touchdown was scored by Gary Long, left end, who caught Bill Sirk's 30-yard pass and ran 10 yards to pay dirt. Bob Sirk registered the second TD by smashing over from the five-yard line. In the third period Rollin McCleary scored on a 20-yard run while in the final stanza Bill Sirk went over from the one-yard line on a quarterback sneak. Orville Payne kicked extra points after the second, third and fourth touchdowns.

Dick Leo, LaSalle end, was banished from the game four minutes before the final whistle for what William "Bee" Orndorff, umpire, termed "unsportsmanlike conduct." Orndorff stated that he had warned Leo about "piling on" and when the official plastered a 15-yard penalty on LaSalle for unnecessary roughness that moved Romney from the Explorers' 16 to 1 yard line, Leo proceeded to call him names. The umpire then ordered the Explorer end out of the game. Orndorff added that after the game Leo resumed his verbal blasts.

Ejected Second Time
It was the second time this season that Leo was tossed out of a game. Ed Milbrada put the LaSalle player out of the Port Hill-LaSalle contest for unnecessary roughness on October 14.

The 15-yard penalty, incidentally, set the stage for Romney's final touchdown.

A crowd of 700 persons saw the unbeaten and unified Pioneers, contenders for the West Virginia Class "B" crown conclude their 1949 season at home. Six of Romney's nine wins were registered on the home field. The lineups:

Romney (27)	LaSalle (0)
LT G. Long	LT Leo
LG K. Parker	LG Ingram
LG Hickman	LG Coffey
C Kenny	C Proud
RG T. Long	RG Michael
RT L. Long	RT Fair
RE W. Long	RE McGree
RB W. Sirk	RB Moran
LB Heaver	LB Sonner
RB S. Sirk	RB Danahy
FB McCleary	FB Peters

Score by period: 13 0 7-27
LA SALLE 0 0 0 0-0
Touchdowns scored by G. Long, R. Sirk, E. Milbrada, W. Sirk.
Points after touchdowns scored by O. Payne.
Officials: John Blough, referee; William Orndorff, umpire; Blyard, head linesman.

West Virginia Freshmen Win

Little Mountaineers Turn Back Pitt, 14-7

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 18 (AP)—Guard Jim Squires blocked two punts here today to lead West Virginia University's freshman football squad to a 14-7 triumph over Pitt's yearlings.

The fighting linebacker from Mineral Wells, Tex., broke through first in the opening camp to block a fourth-down Pitt kick from the visitors' 20-yard line. Ted Anderson skirted end from the six a few plays later for the first Little Mountaineer tally.

Pitt knotted the count at 7-7 in the second period on a 24-yard pass from Joe Capp to Anthony Smille and Joe Salvo's extra point from placement. But Squires entered the picture abruptly again in the third frame to set up the decision.

On that occasion he blocked a Pitt kick off the Little Panthers' 34, and then fell on the ball as it bounded all the way to the end zone for the touchdown. Nicky Moreman of Fairmont converted via placement after both West Virginia scores.

Leahy's Resignation Forecast By Weaver

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 18 (INS)—The resignation of Frank Leahy, Notre Dame coach, at the end of the current season was forecast tonight by Hank Weaver, American Broadcasting Company sports commentator.

Weaver said in his regular Friday night broadcast that his information came from a source "very close" to Leahy.

According to this source, the Notre Dame mentor will take a post as an executive with a nationally known concern.

Weaver predicted that Leahy would be succeeded by either Hugh Devore, St. Bonaventure coach, or by Moose Krause, athletic director at Notre Dame.

350 To Honor Ball And Mont At Grid Game

Fund Nears $500, Gifts Selected

Approximately 350 Cumberlanders are going to Washington, D. C., tomorrow to participate in the "Cumberland Day" exercises at which Coach Herman Ball and Tommy Mont of the Washington Redskins will be honored.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, will deliver a brief talk prior to the presentation of the gifts by Clifton Van Roby, physical director of the Central YMCA.

Local citizens, donated approximately $475 to the fund that will defray the traveling expenses and the cost of feeding members of the Allegheny High School band which will participate in the celebration before the NFL game between the Washington Redskins and Chicago Bears. A portion of the money was used to purchase gifts that were not donated by local merchants. Expenses of the Allegheny High football team for the trip are being paid by the school.

George Marshall, president of the Redskins, sent complimentary tickets to 30 members of the AHS squad.

Coach Ball will receive a traveling bag, camera ring, billfold, pen and pencil set and wearing apparel while Tommy Mont will be presented an overnight bag.

A special car for local fans will be attached to the B. & O. train leaving here Sunday at 6:30 a. m. Those making the trip have the choice of returning on either of two trains Sunday night.

The AHS band will go to Washington in buses while the football players will go in private cars.

The B. & O. will add another car to the Sunday morning train if necessary.

Members of the committee in charge hope to arrange for a dinner in honor of Coach Ball and Mont and their families after the game.

Washington County Hunters Fined $40

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Nov. 18 (AP)—Two Washington county hunters were fined $20 apiece today for shooting rabbits before the season opened Tuesday.

Magistrate John Hetzer imposed the penalties on David Baker of Williamsport and John Nuncie of Hagerstown. Each had a rabbit.

David Gross, local game warden, said rabbits are more plentiful than he has seen them in many years. Four out of five hunters have been getting the bag limit since the season opened, he reported.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—The New York Athletic Commission refused today to license Sammy Angott, former world's lightweight champion, to fight again in the Empire State.

Robinson Gets Most Valuable Player Award

Receives 264 Points, Musial 2nd With 226

By JOHN BARRINGTON

Jack Roosevelt Robinson, the first member of his race to crack organized baseball, today became the first negro to win a major league most valuable player award.

Robinson was voted the National League's most valuable performer by a selection committee of the Baseball Writers' Association. With the honor goes the Kenesaw Mountain Landis Memorial plaque.

The Brooklyn Dodger second baseman, who placed first on half of the 24 ballots, defeated Stan Musial of St. Louis, the 1948 most valuable player, by 38 points. The writers' scoring system gives 14 points for a first place ballot, nine for second, eight for third and so forth.

Robinson received 264 points to Musial's 226. The Cardinal outfielder finished 45 points ahead of the third man, Enos Slaughter, also of the Cards.

Others in the first ten and their point totals were: Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh (133); Pee Wee Reese, Brooklyn (118); Carl Furillo, Brooklyn (68); Warren Spahn, Boston (60); Don Newcombe, Brooklyn (55); Ken Heintzelman, Philadelphia (48); and Red Schoenlenst, St. Louis (30).

Robinson was a logical choice on his playing record. In his third year in the majors, Jackie led the National League in batting with a .342 mark and in stolen bases with 36. He played in each of the 156 Dodger games, getting 503 hits, 16 homers, 12 triples and 28 doubles.

Aside from his diamond performance, the tribute was fitting, for Jackie traveled a difficult road in pioneering the way for negro athletes. There were long-ingrained prejudices to overcome among his teammates and among opposing players, and Jackie overcame them with quiet tact and self-assurance.

His contribution to racial relations was recognized last summer when Robinson was summoned to appear before a congressional committee in Washington to refute claims of Singer Paul Robeson that American negroes would not again fight for their country if war became necessary.

Jackie was an all-round athlete at the University of California at Los Angeles before the war. After serving as an army lieutenant, he signed with Montreal of the International League in 1946. The following season he joined the Dodgers and won rookie of the year honors in the National League.

Musial, runner-up in the most valuable balloting this year, had won the title three times in the past. He finished second to Robinson in batting this season with a .339 average. Stan received five first place votes against Robinson's 12, and 11 second places to Jackie's five.

Coach Herb Royer's undefeated West Virginia Tech eleven from Montgomery is rated a three-touchdown favorite to defeat Potomac State today in a West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference game at Stayman Field, Keyser. The kickoff is scheduled for 2 p. m.

It will be the final game on the 1949 slate for both teams and a Potomac State victory would not only be a big upset but would knock Tech out of the championship. The Techmen have a record of seven wins and one tie against conference eleven and a setback would give West Liberty (4-3-1) the title. Tech and West Liberty played a 6-6 tie.

The Royer-coached outfit holds decisions over three teams that played State, namely, Concord, Davis and Elkins and Shepherd. Potomac lost to Shepherd and Concord and downed the Senators from Elkins. A victory today would give Coach Dana Lough's aggregation a 2-2 record in the conference and an overall mark of 6-3 for the season.

Four former Potomac State players will appear in the visiting team's lineup. They are Ralph Basilio, of Cumberland; Neal Bais of Elkins; Brooks Harris of Weston, and Andy Starrett.

The Tech squad arrived last night in Keyser.

Officials for the game will be Steve Harlick, referee; "Dutch" Holter, umpire, and "Bobby" Cavannah, head linesman.

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 18 (AP)—The University of Miami Hurricanes fought the University of Florida Gators to a 28 to 13 victory tonight in the Orange Bowl before a record regular season crowd of 55,981.

Florida's great Chuck Hunsinger narrowed the Miami margin seconds before the third period ended when he bulled over for a touchdown.

Jim Roby And Diehl To Officiate; Game Starts At 9 P. M.

Cumberland's Dukes will play their second game of the season Sunday night when they oppose the Hagerstown Cabineers on SS. Peter and Paul gym at 9 o'clock.

The Dukes met Hagerstown last season in a game that was to determine to Western Maryland championship and the locals won by the score of 97-51.

Dave Kauffman's floormen flashed brilliant form in their opening game on October 23 when they forced the Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Association to extend themselves before they finally won out in the closing minutes of play by the score of 59-57.

Henry, Hunt To Play
Hagerstown is coached by Mel Henry, one-time Penn Avenue and VPI star, who will likely be seen in action in tomorrow's game. William "Shad" Hunt, former LaSalle High cager, is also on the Cabineers' roster. "Brud" Myers and Hunt are the only players in the current Hagerstown lineup who played here last year.

It is doubtful whether Bob Pence will appear in the Dukes' lineup tomorrow because he is accompanying his Allegheny High football squad to Washington for the Cumberland Day ceremonies at which Coach Herman Ball and Tommy Mont of the Redskins will be honored. Don Lilia or Tommy Getz will start in his place at a forward position.

Lou Bell, George Getz, Paul Oberhaus, Walter "Pooch" Orndorff and Jimmie Clevenger, who played in last year's game, will again see action tomorrow night. Last season the Dukes won 23 and lost 19, including a 6-1 record against independent quints. In the All-American Pro League the locals won 17 and lost 18. The opening game this season sends the Dukes against the Blues at Wheeling one week from Monday night.

The group also urged that a better lighting system for other sections be considered by the Mayor and City Commissioners.

Chester Stewart presided at the meeting, attended by William Joyce, Art Carpenter, W. W. Sluss, Jr., Ralph I. Alexander, John Richmond, George C. Bradley, U. B. F. Edwards, Eldridge Crowe, James Huggins, James Sleeman, Fred McKenzie, Paul Carpenter, William B. Yates, Robert Glodfelter, Marshall Stanton, Perry Myers, Carl Storm, Joseph H. Spates, Woodrow Layman and Max Agnew.

The plan presented called for additional lights from Water Street to Sand Spring. Cost of the present lights on this section of the street is $15.40 for 16,000 lumens; under the new plan the cost would be $37.80 for 56,000 lumens.

New lights were proposed for East Main Street from Bowery to Eckhart Flat, where the cost of the present lights is $22.25 for 22,000 lumens per month. Under the proposed plan the cost would be $48.60 for 72,000 lumens.

The new lighting system in the business district from Bowery to Water Street would increase the illumination from the present 90,000 lumens, costing $33.60, to 200,000 lumens at a cost of $97.

The increase in cost per month for the new system on Main Street would be as follows: West end, Water Street to Sand Spring, $22.40; East end from Bowery to Eckhart Flat, $28.35 and the business district from Bowery to Water, $34.40, making a total increase of $54.15 per month for the entire street.

William B. Yates was named chairman to present the delegation's proposal, as recommended by the Potomac Edison Company, to the Mayor and City Commissioners at a special meeting in City Hall, tentatively set for next Wednesday night, November 23.

Under the system there would be 18 lights from Bowery to Eckhart Flat, 14 from Water Street to Sand Spring and 20 in the business district from Water to Bowery. Lights in the business district are to be staggered from side to side except at the intersection of Water and Bowery streets, where two lights will be opposite each other.

According to Jacobs, City Water and Light Commissioner, the plan submitted to him does not call for removal of the present poles in the business district, as reported at the Wednesday evening meeting.

Jacobs explained that the plan, which he has been studying, recommends that the present "white way" poles remain but only 20 be used in the new lighting system. Those to be used, Jacobs said, would be extended about four feet in height by addition of a mast to hold the new lights.

According to Jacobs, the Mayor and City Commissioners have not formally given consideration to re-arranging the city's lighting system, but members of the council have been discussing the matter individually.

Jacobs agreed with members of the Main Street delegation that lighting on all streets in the community should be improved.

Paul Rader Held In Theft Of Gun

KEYSER, W. Va. — State Police here yesterday completed a three months investigation of the theft of a valuable rifle.

During August, the rifle, a Mauser Model 98, German rifle, was stolen from the property of S. J. Dearbach, Pittsburgh, on Route 46, east of Keyser.

Dearbach has a tenant on his property, but maintains a room in the dwelling and visits at odd times. He reported its disappearance upon returning to his property in September.

Last week, state police learned of a rifle answering the description of the gun in Cumberland. Going to Cumberland they talked to the new owner who told where he had purchased it, and the search was extended.

Paul Edward Rader was arrested late Wednesday at Berryville, Va.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 18—(INS)—Gary Cooper's kindness to Benny Loew, an unknown boy, puts Cooper even higher in my esteem. Benny, who served in the Navy, goes to school on the G. I. Bill of Rights. He has been a pal of my young cousin, Gordon Maynard, since both were small boys. But to go on with my story:

Last summer at Gordon's birthday party, Mike Cur-tiz said, "That Benny has such a wonderful face, I want to test him sometime." None of us thought much about it until Mike asked a test for "Bright Leaf." This came at a good time because Benny's grandmother, who raised him, had just died.

But, when Benny read the lines he wasn't good. He was frightened and inexperienced. Mike said, "It's too big a part for you, we'll try another time."

Gary, who was rehearsing with Donald Crisp, following Benny to the door, said: "Come back, son. I like your face. Let Mr. Crisp and me help you."

Those two men worked for an hour with Benny. He then made another test and Mike gave him the job in "Bright Leaf."

"I'll Get You For This," the story by an English writer, James Hadley Chase, who tells all about the American gangsters in the Capone era, will star George Raft.

Joe Kaufman is making it independently, with the financial help of John and James Woolfe. It will be filmed on the Italian Riviera and London—and that, I suspect, is what interested George, who likes the Riviera.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Is Jim Kimberly the attraction that suddenly took Cleatus Caldwell east a few days ago?

Hollywood took on all the old-time glamor, what with the premiere of "All The King's Men" and the first night of "A La Carte," a new stage show. Dinner parties were numerous, as well as supper parties at the night clubs.

At La Rue, Gloria and Jimmy Stewart were dining with Evie and Van Johnson and Margaret Sullivan, all of them went on to "All The King's Men."

At a table for two Elizabeth Taylor and Robert Stack had dinner before the premiere, and they looked as if they were having a good time.

Woman Wins Divorce, Dog, Loses Daughter

FREDERICK, Md., Nov. 18. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Frances Edwin gets her divorce and her dog but loses her daughter.

The dog was the only real bone of contention, Circuit Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer said in his opinion granting her a divorce on grounds of abandonment.

Mrs. Edwin didn't ask any alimony. She and her husband, Delbert B. Edwin, Washington, D. C., agreed on property settlement. Mrs. Edwin dropped a plea for custody of her 14-year-old daughter by a previous marriage.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A new high in mortification was scored at a local radio station by a young couple who were breaking in a new song-and-patter program. It was on a sustaining basis and there was no money for expensive guest stars, but the couple, persuaded their good friends, the Andrews Sisters, to appear gratis one evening to help hype the rating.

The Andrews Sisters were in the studio waiting to do one of their most popular specialties when a new efficiency expert of the station bustled in, took one look at the girls, and barked, "No guests are allowed in the broadcasting studio. You'll have to leave at once." The host explained desperately, "You don't understand, Mr. So-and-so. These are the Andrews Sisters!" "I don't care whose sisters they are," declared the expert. "Get 'em out of here." As an afterthought he called over his shoulder, "And fire Andrews, too."

Gypsy Rose Lee, the somewhat different strip-tease artist, admitted to an interviewer, "I know men aren't attracted to me by my mind. They're attracted by what I don't mind."

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

"Dance through a Week to Beauty!" Fun to do! Lovely to see! And beautifying for your figure!

WOMEN everywhere are finding that it's a thrilling experience to "Dance through a Week of Beauty." It is a solo dance that is sheer pleasure to do... and very movement in it is figure-making and slimming!

When you master this little solo routine, it's sure you'll be anxiously awaiting your next party invitation so you can parade your new trim look, graceful figure and assured ways.

5th Step to Beauty
Today, will give you the last step of the entire lovely routine. Practice! do the weekend and make it the best. Start from a standstill position with your feet together and your arms flung up over your head, and of course, hum your favorite waltz tune throughout the prement.

A 1th your right foot firmly on the floor, bend your right knee as you slowly slide your left foot and back until your left knee touches the floor. Now, distribute your body weight evenly between your left knee and right foot.

1. Swing your arms down and back so that they both point to your left foot as you twist your trunk and turn your head to the left.

Slowly bring your right knee up to the floor so that you kneel on both knees as you swing your arms, trunk and head to the right.

2. Now, this is hard! Lower your body (arms in the same position as above) so that your left hip almost touches the floor just beside the left arm.

3. Rise very lightly up onto your knees and shift your weight so that the right hip almost touches the floor just beside your right calf. As you do this, transfer your arms so they point toward your left leg.

4. Repeat, A, B, C, D, E in perfect rhythm twice more. (May take practice!)

G. Slowly raise your body up to a full kneeling position as you raise your arms until they are outstretched at shoulder level. Now, slowly swing your arms down to your sides and then, suddenly fling them forward until they are stretched above your head in the gesture of a grand finale.

And now, take a bow, lovely lady! If you have learned all six of the steps, I'm sure you are mighty proud of your accomplishment! I hope you enjoy this dance for years... and that from now on you will "Dance through Every Week to Beauty!"

Baering Down Or The News

By J. R. THUR "BUGS" BAER

Russians seem to be using their atom bombs to make molecules out of mountains.

Well, that's even more interesting than the time we blew a hole in the ocean.

Maybe the UN can award the medal to the side that makes the most noise. Watching a seismograph of faraway detonations is like playing a chess match by cable.

The Russians also claim they blow a canal six hundred miles long by twenty miles wide. That will solve the traffic problem in the down town Eskimo district.

The Russians do things in a big way. Remember when Stalin wanted war on his nose removed by Gutsen Borglum?

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W
One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
A Cryptogram Quotation
P A J W E V P A V K E H J S W G T E A K O.
P G E K E V O, K E V O V E E N A E N H T L
S G M — N A T P A T E.
Yesterday's Cryptogram: TWO SOULS WITH BUT A SINGLE THOUGHT, TWO HEARTS THAT BEAT AS ONE—LOVELL.

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHEN the consummate artist of card play can't accomplish his purpose otherwise, he paints a picture for his opponent, so realistic that the latter believes he is looking at the real thing, or at least suspects it. That is another rather fancy way of speaking about false-carding. Making the opponent think the situation is,
or may be, different from what it is—that is the key to success in many situations.

Stipulation Is Filed In Celanese Case

Court Dismisses Suit As Company, Union Agree To Bargain

A stipulation in Circuit Court yesterday in the equity suit filed November 5 by Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, against the Celanese Corporation of America, resulted in a court order signed by Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., dismissing the action, without prejudice to either side.

The bill of complaint originally filed by the union asked the court to issue a declaratory decree requiring the company to submit to arbitration a dispute over an increased work load in the Spinning Department at the Amelle plant here.

Under the terms of the stipulation, filed jointly by Leslie J. Clark, attorney for the union, and William A. Gunter, attorney for the company, it is agreed that the question will be discussed by labor and management and if not settled satisfactorily to both in 15 days, will be submitted to arbitration. It was also stipulated that the company would not increase the work load in Spinning until after the case is fully settled.

Agree To Arbitration

Both sides agreed to abide by whatever decision might come as a result of arbitration. Judge Bruce signed the court order accepting the stipulation and dismissing the suit.

After the suit was docketed earlier this month, the company issued a statement saying it would make no further attempts to change the work load in the department pending a Circuit Court decision.

The case involved, spokesmen explain, the increasing of the work load on jet spinners in the spinning department from six machines to 12 machines. Company officials contended that technological improvements in the department had been made and the proposed increase in work load was justified and would cause no undue hardship.

When the suit was first docketed, the union asked the Court to permanently enjoin the company from breaching any and all terms of the contract.

It was recalled the company had announced the work load increase September 6, and the question was taken up in conference.

Union Rejected Step-Up

The union claims it rejected the work load and the company was advised of this action by letter dated October 8. The union then attempted to take the matter to arbitration, but prior to the commencement of this arbitration, the suit explains, the company announced the new work load plan would become effective November 7, at 7 a. m., "all of which is contrary to the terms of the contract," the suit alleged.

On October 28, the union again filed protests with the company, the suit outlined, and the Celanese informed the union the change would still be effective as announced.

The equity proceedings, for a restraining order against the company, was filed on November 5.

Demurrer Filed

This was followed by the filing of a demurrer by Gunter for the Celanese, in which it was set forth that the union was not entitled to maintain a suit for construction of the contract by the courts and that the court had no jurisdiction to construe the contract agreement, since the collective bargaining agreement provides that any dispute arising out of the meaning of any provision of the agreement must be submitted to arbitration with the decision of the arbitrator as final.

The union insisted that the effect of the company's action in ordering the work load increase in this instance without first submitting it to arbitration had a tendency to undermine the collective bargaining power and prestige of the local. The union therefore sought court action to issue a restraining order and pass a declaratory decree requiring the company to submit the question to arbitration before placing the new work load into effect.

The stipulation, in which it is agreed that the case will be arbitrated if an agreement cannot be reached by collective bargaining, also provides that the company will not order the work load increase during the period of negotiations or arbitration.

The court, in dismissing the suit, ordered each side to pay its own costs.

Santa And His Engine

Doesn't sound quite right does it? Santa always goes with reindeer. However, since his trusty sled pullers are a little shy of hunting season, the B. and O. thoughtfully allowed Santa to pilot their No. 9 passenger train into Queen City Station last night. The man in the red coat plans to make personal appearances in several local stores beginning this morning. He will also train several helpers for street corners and relay children's requests to his North Pole Workshop.

Gun-Shy Reindeer Force Santa Claus To Enter City By Train

Chains Needed On Route 40

State Police early this morning were advising motorists to use chains and drive with care on snow-covered roads west of Frostburg.

There was some three inches of snow at Grantsville accompanied by wind.

Mayors Told To Take Home Rule Fight To People

BALTIMORE, Nov. 18. (AP)—George P. Mahoney, unannounced candidate for Governor in next year's Democratic primary, suggested to Maryland's mayors that they take their fight for home rule to the people.

"If you can get the facts and dramatize them so that the people will understand them, you will get redress," he said.

Mahoney, former state racing commissioner, addressed the annual banquet of the Maryland League of Municipalities. Its two-day session will conclude tomorrow.

Mahoney has declared himself a gubernatorial candidate by actions, but has not formally announced his candidacy.

He sympathized with the proponents of more home rule for cities and counties, saying:

"No extensive or elaborate argument is required to demonstrate that the combined wisdom of the members of the General Assembly is not needed to enact the law that decided whether the guard at the county jail in Prince Georges County should be paid $1.80 or $1.90 a day."

"Or the law that raised the annual salary of the official court stenographer of Washington County from $1,200 to $1,500 x x x."

"The plain fact of the matter is that from 50 to 66 per cent of the measures passed by the General Assembly are concerned with matters relating solely to the individual counties, towns or cities," he added.

Mahoney didn't suggest that home rule be obtained through a specific channel. He mentioned many: Con-

Made somewhat nervous about reports of the opening of hunting season in Allegany County, Santa Claus entered Cumberland last night in the cab of the B. and O.'s No. 9 passenger train.

His reindeer are a bit gun shy, he noted, and for the past few years he's left them at the North Pole until the great gift-delivering night.

"Not that I mind hunters," Santa said, "My red coat protects me. But ever since Dunder and Blitzen almost got their horns shot off in an advance trip over Pearl Harbor in 1941, they've simply refused to leave the stable before December 24."

Besides, the old gentleman pointed out, travel by rail has its points. It's warmer and he can wear fashionable corduroy suits instead of scratchy wool ones.

When consulted about his plans in the Queen City, Santa said he would go right to work this morning.

"I've got to appear at several stores in town until Christmas, train helpers for street corners and make a couple of checking trips to the North Pole."

"After all, I've got to be sure there are enough electric trains and dolls to go around," he pointed out.

A preliminary tour of Baltimore Street pleased Santa very much. Over half of the main establishment had put up window decorations.

He chuckled at a display of Old English carolers singing "White Christmas," and recognized some of his elves sitting on displays of Christmas gift suggestions.

St. Nicholas noticed a prevalence of green leaves in most of the store windows. Those and bells seemed to form the most popular decorating motifs.

White wire surrealistic trees hung with tinsel stars also fascinated him. Not particularly in the Tannenbaum tradition, but pretty, he agreed.

Stopped suddenly by a fall of white flakes, the red coated gentleman wished for a minute that his reindeer were with him.

But, as it stopped soon after it started, he reflected, "No self-respecting sled could get across that little drizzle, anyway."

Asked if he had a message for the children as the Christmas season opened, Santa scratched his beard and grinned:

"Tell them that most of the toy displays open today and they'd better see them quick, before the grownups take over the place."

Man Injured While Cutting Wood

Coyle Bennett, 41, Route 2, this city, was admitted to Memorial Hospital for surgery yesterday at 4:30 p. m. after he cut his left wrist while cutting wood. He was reported in good condition.

James Garrison, 54, Barton, was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., Thursday after injuring his back in the Belmont Coal Company mine near Barton. X-rays showed he suffered a sprain and he was reported "very satisfactory."

Civil Cases Set Before Holiday For Next Week

Civil cases will be resumed in Circuit Court Monday, with trials set for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. No cases are scheduled for the last three days of the week, because of Thanksgiving Day Thursday.

Monday's cases involve an automobile accident in which a mother and young daughter were injured. The suits are brought against the Indemnity Insurance Company of North America by Marcella Sullivan for $1,000 and by Carol A. Sullivan through her mother and next friend, Marcella Sullivan for $3,000.

Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., represent the plaintiffs and William C. Walsh and Thomas B. Finan the defendant company.

On Tuesday, the case of John Utis against Frank P. Gigliotti for $5,000 is to be tried. Utis claims he was a passenger on a bus which stopped at the Celanese gate October 11, 1948. He claims he was struck, knocked down and seriously injured by a car operated by Gigliotti as he stepped from the bus.

Ryan represents the plaintiff and W. Earl Cobey the defendant.

For Wednesday, four suits, involving the same individuals, probably will be tried together. William H. Taylor and John L. Taylor, trading as Taylor Brothers Outdoor Amusements, sued Sandy and Ersler Ramanski. A few days later two suits were filed by Sandy Ramanski against the Taylors.

Horace Whitworth, Jr., represents the Taylors and Robb represents the Ramanski couple. The suits involve claims for an automobile and bookkeeping agent fees, attorneys said.

Another 769 counts received physical examinations for tuberculosis. The figures cover the period from January 1 to October 31.

Following the storm, the town of Westernport replaced the storm sewer with a heavier pipe made of concrete, it was testified.

Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., and Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., represented the mayor and commissioners.

Two Youths Held In Theft Of Birds

Two local teen-aged youths were detained yesterday by local police after 19 pigeons valued at $40 were found at their homes. The birds were reported by Charles Smith, 437 Walnut Street, as stolen, early this week.

The pair one 13 and the other 16 was released in the custody of their parents after making statements at police headquarters. They will be taken to Juvenile Court, according to Detective Thomas J. See.

The pigeons, four of which were competitive show birds, were returned to their owners. Detective See said the show birds were valued at $10 a set.

Literary Society To Be Organized

Plans for the formation of a literary society will be discussed at a meeting planned Monday at 8 p. m. in Ebenezer Baptist Church, Cumberland Street.

Jesse York, organizer, said both young and old are invited to join the non-denominational society.

UMW Will File Written Protest Over School Coal

Dr. Kopp Says Fuel On Contract Basis

The United Mine Workers Local 2835* was asked yesterday to put into writing a verbal protest filed at the Board of County Commissioners meeting that county schools are using non-union mined coal.

Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, said he made the request during an hour-long meeting with union officials that was arranged by Charles N. Wilkinson, president of the county commissioners board.

The union representatives — Patrick Noland, William Berry and William Thomas — first filed their protests at the Commissioners meeting yesterday morning. Noland, spokesman for the three, said at the meeting:

"All during the recent strike of union coal miners the UMW made sure that no school, hospital or home in which small children or ill persons lived was without coal."

Permits were issued, he explained. "Now that the mines are again open," he continued, "it's not fair to the United Mine Workers for the schools to buy non-union mined coal."

Dr. Kopp, who termed his meeting with the three representatives "very friendly," said that the Board of Education purchases its coal for the schools on the basis of "contracts with the lowest bidder."

He explained that the Board of Education is handling the tax payers' money and makes every effort to secure the lowest prices. Bids are advertised, he explained, and the contracts are awarded to the lowest bidder in all cases where the quality of coal meets Board of Education standards.

The Board of County Commissioners had earlier informed the representatives that they have no jurisdiction over what the Board of Education does and that all they do is appropriate the money for the operation of the schools.

After discussing the situation with the three representatives for some time, Dr. Kopp said he informed them to submit their complaints in writing.

Dr. Kopp later explained that the written request, if received, will be submitted for action of the three-man Board of Education at its next meeting scheduled for December 13.

He also explained that in awarding contracts to lowest bidders, the board does not check to determine if the supply is being carried from a union-operated mine.

The contracts he explained are awarded to various coal companies and trucking firms either for individual schools or groups of schools. It would be difficult to determine where each trucker is securing the coal throughout the contracted time he added.

The union representatives indicated that the written complaint would be prepared and filed in time for the December 13 session.

Christmas Seals To Be Mailed

Nearly 14,000 Christmas seals will be distributed from three Allegany County Postoffices Monday.

William J. Edwards, president of the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association, said 10,800 seals were taken to the local Postoffice yesterday for mailing Monday.

Another 1,951 seals will be sent out from the Frostburg Postoffice, and 974 will be distributed through the Westernport Postoffice. The number of seals to be mailed from the three cities totals 13,725.

The Association pointed out that proceeds from the sale of Christmas seals support the tuberculosis X-ray and physical examination program in the county.

More than 8,000 Allegany Countians have received X-ray examinations for TB since January, according to Health Department figures.

Of these, 1,308 were X-rayed during regular Health Department clinics, while another 6,891 were X-rayed when a mobile and portable unit visited Cumberland in September and October.

Another 769 counts received physical examinations for tuberculosis. The figures cover the period from January 1 to October 31.

Following the storm, the town of Westernport replaced the storm sewer with a heavier pipe made of concrete, it was testified.

Steam Blinds Driver; PE Worker Struck

A cloud of steam from a manhole at the intersection of Baltimore and Centre Streets last night blocked the view of a motorist and resulted in Taylor Amos Dicken, 29, of 534 North Centre Street, being struck.

Officer William Valentine said Dicken, an employee of the Potomac Edison Company, was raising the cover of a manhole when a cloud of steam rose enveloping him and blinding Robert F. Case, 321 Davidson Street, driver of the car.

Dicken was spun around and knocked to the ground but suffered only brush burns on the face. No charges were preferred, police said.

Deed Recorded

A deed was filed for record at the office of the clerk of court here yesterday conveying a property on Henderson Avenue, between Frederick and Davidson Streets, from The Arthur Litzberg Company to Clarence Litzberg for $18,000. The property has been used as office and storage for an outdoor sign service, was formerly a garage and at one time an old foundry.

Marine Flier Dies In Crash

Ship Comes Down During Blinding Snow Storm Six Miles From Glencoe

A United States Marine Corps officer was killed last night when a Navy F-4-U fighter plane crashed atop Allegheny Mountain six miles north of Glencoe, Pa.

Pennsylvania State Police said they were informed of the crash at 8:45 p. m. and a crew was dispatched to the scene. The body was removed to Johnson's Funeral Home in Berlin, Pa.

Identification of the pilot, only person known to be in the plane, was withheld pending notification of relatives, State Police said.

Cause of the crash was not determined, but police said a heavy snow storm was sweeping the area at the time the plane crashed. Icy conditions prevailed in the mountainous section where the craft was down.

Authorities said Naval officials informed them the pilot was en route from Washington, D. C., to Pittsburgh, Pa., but failed to report the time of the take off from the Washington air field, which was not identified.

Police said they received their first report from residents in the area, but had not yet learned the condition of the crashed plane. They added that residents of the area assisted in the removal of the body.

A member of the party who visited the scene said the body had been thrown from the craft and was lying about 15 or 20 feet from the demolished fuselage.

The crash occurred about a tenth of a mile from the nearest hard surfaced highway and members of the crew had to wade through three inches of snow to reach the scene.

The body was carried to the highway where it was placed in an ambulance and taken to Berlin. The member of the rescue party said the plane was not burned but it was completely demolished.

Investigating authorities said the planned course of the plane required an hour and a half of flying time. The plane carried enough gas for a three-hour flight, they added.

From another source it was learned that the craft was an hour and a half overdue on its flight when police learned of the crash. Authorities said a strong wind had swept the area since early evening and approximately three inches of snow had fallen since darkness.

A Naval investigating crew was reported enroute from the Johnson, Pa., headquarters early this morning and police said they would turn the case over to them as soon as they arrived.

Celanese Jobs Top 5,100 Mark

Employment at the Amelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America now exceeds 5,100, a plant spokesman revealed yesterday.

The figure includes, he added, about 200 temporary employees engaged in installation work in the plant.

In October, Amelle employment was about 4,870, an increase of 1,500 since July, when the total working force dropped to 3,380.

There are as yet no indications, the plant spokesman said, on the outlook after the first of the year.

Mrs. True Gets Verdict Against Westernport

Jury Awards $3,691 In Flood Damage Case

A verdict of $3,691.66 in favor of Mrs. Minnie A. True against the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport, was returned yesterday by a Circuit Court jury for damages to her residence property caused last July 12 when a flash flood broke a storm sewer and swept water, silt and rocks over her home.

The case, which took nearly three days of testimony and argument in court before Associate Judge George Henderson, attracted considerable interest among residents of Westernport and other parts of the county.

T. L. Richards, this city, and H. G. Shores, Keyser, W. Va., represented Mrs. True and presented evidence to show the town's storm sewer, a 30-inch terra cotta pipe, ran under the dwelling property of Mrs. True and carried surface water from a neighboring hillside to George's Creek. They presented witnesses to show that the sewer broke as a result of excessive pressure or rocks, when a record 6.38 inches of rain fell in Westernport on July 12.

Witnesses said that 18 inches of silt, debris and rocks were washed on to the first floor of the dwelling, causing floors and walls to buckle. The amount of the suit was $5,000 but actual estimates of property damage were placed at $2,500 plus the cost of the loss of use of her home and loss of other property.

Following the storm, the town of Westernport replaced the storm sewer with a heavier pipe made of concrete, it was testified.

Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., and Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., represented the mayor and commissioners.

Banks Of Dam To Reach Full Height Soon

Second Phase Of Savage River Job Is Slated In 1950

The embankment of the huge Savage River Dam will reach its full height within the next few weeks as contractors for the first phase of the work complete their activities.

Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce were told Thursday that the final contract for the dam is slated to be advertised between January 1 and 10.
